

LIANA COYNE APPOINTED CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER OF COYNE AIRWAYS

London, UK, Wednesday April 16th 2014 - Coyne Airways has appointed Liana Coyne as Chief Operating Officer (COO) as part of a restructure that sees John Batten, Managing Director, leave the airline.

Liana, who has been a director at Coyne Airways since 2010, will head up five new market-focused divisions, including Iraq, the Caspian and Central Asia, Afghanistan, Africa, and Contract Logistics, each with a dedicated manager.

The new structure underpins Coyne's focus on customer service and will strengthen the carrier as it pursues new route options using dedicated lift.

"We would like to take this opportunity to thank John for his contribution to Coyne Airways and working on this assignment to restructure the company. We wish him well for the future," said Larry Coyne, CEO.
